PanEur1970s - Looking West: the European Socialist regimes facing pan-European cooperation and the European Community, PI Federico Romero

Abstract:

The second public Workshop of the ERC Project PanEur1970s is meant to assess the work in progress of the individual team members and of the team as a whole at a crucial stage of the research, with the project being very close to completion of the analytical work and the team drafting their final contributions.

Each team member will present her/his individual contribution to an audience that includes invited experts and other colleagues in attendance. A pre-assigned discussant will comment the specific paper and provided feedback in terms of content, methodology, sources, and consistency. Then the floor will be open to suggestions, questions, and comments from the other colleagues. A final roundtable discussion will address the project's findings and arguments, possible weaknesses, suggest improvements, and help the team plan the project's final edited volume.
